

Kimberly R. Frugé

Ph.D. Candidate

Florida State University · 113 Collegiate Loop · Tallahassee, FL

✉ kfruge@fsu.edu ☎ 337 254 9561 🌐 kimfruge.com | Updated: April 18, 2018

Education

Florida State University , Ph.D. Political Science	anticipated 2019
Florida State University , M.S. Political Science	2017
Stephen F. Austin State University , B.S. Mathematics with honors	2014
Stephen F. Austin State University , B.S. Political Science with honors	2014

Conference Presentations

- “Human Rights Organizations and The Onset and Termination of Repression.” International Studies Association Annual Meeting. San Francisco, CA. 2018
- “Repressive Agent Defections: How Autocratic Power Grabs and Constraining Institutions Change Actor’s Incentive to Repress.” Southern Political Science Association Annual Meeting. New Orleans, LA. 2018
- “Repressive Agent Defections: How Autocratic Power Grabs and Constraining Institutions Change Actor’s Incentive to Repress.” Midwest Political Science Association. Chicago, IL. 2017
- “Human Rights Organizations, Mobilized Dissent, and Incentives to (Not) Repress.” Dr. Han-Jyan Hou Conference: The Human Rights Implementation Gap. Binghamton, NY. 2016
- “Human Rights Organizations, Mobilized Dissent, and Incentives to (Not) Repress.” International Studies Association Annual Meeting. Atlanta, GA. 2016
- “Breaking (Down) Bad: The Effects of Authoritarian Institutions on Human Rights.” New Orleans, LA. 2015 (with Julie Harrelson-Stephens)

Working Papers

- Human Rights Organizations, Mobilized Dissent, and Incentives to (Not) Repress
- Access Points and Human Rights (with Sean Ehlich and Jillienne Hagland)
- Repressive Agent Defections: How Autocratic Power Grabs and Constraining Institutions Change Actor’s Incentive to Repress
- Human Rights Organization and the Onset and Termination of Repression
- Agents of Repression: Examining Subnational Repression in Mexico (with Jordan Holsinger)
- Government Revenue and The Common Agency of Repression: How Financial Principals Constrain the Leader’s Use of Repression

Research

Research Assistant, Jee Seon Jeon, Florida State University, Fall 2014, Spring 2015, Spring 2016
Research Assistant, Sean Ehrlich, Florida State University, Fall 2015, Fall 2017, Spring 2018

Teaching

International Human Rights, Summer 2018 Terror and Politics, FSU, Summer 2017
Introduction to Comparative Government and Politics, FSU, Summer 2016

Teaching Assistant

Graduate Game Theory I, FSU, Rob Carroll, Spring 2017
Undergraduate Game Theory, FSU, Kai Ou, Fall 2016
Graduate Game Theory I, FSU, Jee Seon Jeon, Spring 2016

Awards and Honors

International Studies Association Travel Grant, Spring 2015, Spring 2018
Southern Political Science Association Travel Grant, Spring 2018
FSU Congress of Graduate Students Travel Grant to attend Southern Political Science Association annual Meeting, Spring 2018
FSU Congress of Graduate Students Travel Grant to attend Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting, Spring 2017
FSU Congress of Graduate Students Travel Grant to attend Dr. Han-Jyun Hou Conference: The Human Rights Implementation Gap, Fall 2016
FSU Congress of Graduate Students Travel Grant to attend International Studies Association Annual Meeting, Spring 2015, 2016, 2018
FSU Congress of Graduate Students Travel Grant to attend peace Science Workshop, Fall 2015

Additional Training

Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR). 2017. University of Michigan. EITM Certification (granted December 2017 for coursework at ICPSR)